Agent Predicts Favorable Outlook For All Crops In Milam'59 Year

Column 99

By Frank M. Luecke

Another holiday is here — January 1, New Year's — time to resolve the resolutions we will start breaking about the middle of the month.

And if we aren't breaking resolutions by April 15, Uncle Sam will give a healthy assist in breaking us away from our annual donations to the U. S. Treasury. I could safely predict that many good resolves for the New Year will disappear along with the mailing of that April 15 report.

I am inclined to wonder, along with another Herald Columnator, The Little River Philosopher, how the U. S. manages to spread so many billions of dollars so far until economics experts anticipate upto a seven billions or more deficit at the end of the next fiscal year.

It is easy to understand how the money can be spread thin or shot into orbit, but I don't see how we can turn it red. What few dollars happening my way these days are still the traditional green.

Of course the same whizardry that put a 8,600-pound Atlas into orbit can accomplish much magic with the hues of inks.

99-99-99-99

Nonetheless, we have resolved some very important resolutions for 1959, particularly after seeing a familiar adage that reminds:

"Too soon grow old,
Too late grow smart."

It somehow fits into the scheme of the theme today, since we are writing about time and money and resolutions.

If we don't remind ourselves that we can't understand the big picture anyhow, we might create quite a furor in our youthful ignorance.

99-99-99-99

Since resolutions are to be broken, why mention them? Our primary goal in 1959 is to produce a better newspaper. By keeping busy with your newspaper, we shouldn't have time to worry about the resolutions.

You are invited to keep those anecdotes and interesting Milam County incidents coming Column 99's way. It is our resolve to retell as many human interest yarns about you and your neighbors as the material will warrant.

And with that, we wish you a Happy New Year!

Cattle Leading Farm Industry, White Says

O. A. White, co-owner of the Cameron Livestock Auction, told Rotarians Wednesday that cattle have become the major farm industry in Milam County with stock valuation set at $7,564,000.

Introduced by Richard Moseley, program chairman, White compared the value of 61,000 cattle in Milam County to the 1958 crop values of maize, corn and cotton.

He quoted the following 1958 figures: Maize, 1,200,000,000 pounds produced in county, valued at $2,436,000; corn, 1,250,000 bushels, valued at $1,375,000; and cotton, 8,000 bales valued at $1,200,000.

His figures were provided by officials in the grain and cotton business, White told Rotarians.

Now ranking 41st in Texas, Milam County has tripled the number of cattle from about 22,000 in 1930. The 61,000 figure was set by the U. S. Dept. of Agriculture, White continued.

The cattle market executive said the total evaluation of Milam County cattle, heading for a peak in 1958, was based on an average value of $124 per head of cattle.

He said that the trend in cattle centers is away from terminal markets like Fort Worth to smaller bonded auction operations.

Recommending a program for the county, White said that a program of feeding would work well in Milam County. With an ideal climate, he said, this area could serve as a center for feeding cattle as well as producing its own beef cattle.

He said that his auction handled 27,000 head of cattle and 6,100 hogs during 1958.

Rainfall Returns To Yearly Normal Of 36.34 Inches

Cameron and Milam County got back to normal in the rainfall business during 1958 as 36.34 inches fell during the year.

The total figure compared rainfall in 1957 showed a decline of almost 20 years of rain Alvin Hefft, chief weather reporter for the Cameron Weather Station, said.

A total of 53 inches fell during 1957, he recalled.

Normal rainfall ranges somewhere between 32 and 34 inches in the Central Texas area.

The average rainfall came as welcome news to farmers who found it too dry in 1956 when about 25 inches fell and too wet when 53 inches fell during 1957

The average rainfall in Milam County would be about the same as recorded in Cameron, Hefft said.

Jury Panel Indicts Five Men On 3 Separate Counts

A Milam District Jury Monday returned indictments against five men on three separate charges.

Dellon Roberson, Willie H. Moore, and Qullie Cophus Roberson were named on an indictment charging the three men on a count of burglary.

They were charged with burglarizing the home of Mrs. A. E. Becker, Ben Arnold, officials said.

In two single indictments, the panel indicted Robert R. James for felony theft and Wilbur Morgan Jr., on a count of burglary.

Officials said James faces felony theft charges in connection with the theft of an outboard motor belonging to Collier Pearson, Rockdale.

The burglary indictment placed charges against Morgan in connection with burglary of the Albert Matula residence.

Grand jurors were: Foreman Nelson Davis, Secretary W. W. Wilson, Hugo Aigner, Leonard Pelzel, H. G. Chamberlain, E. J. Kuzel, John A. Sefcik, R. H. Foster, E. Lange, G. A. Dodd, Bill Gause and Bobby J. Williams.

Poll Receipts Light

Back Taxes Pour In

Poll tax payments were light, but delinquent taxes were coming in fast, according to City Sec. John Andres.

Andres told The Herald that $10,646.49 in delinquent taxes had been paid since Oct. 1, 1958.

He estimated that about $25,000 in delinquent taxes remained on the books. The City Council has excused delinquent tax charges for those who have shown cancelled checks or receipts covering the tax period in question.

Andres noted that 12 delinquent tax names have been turned over to City Atty. Jack Prescott for processing and collection. The council has authorized legal action in collecting delinquent city taxes not paid after 30 days written notice to the taxpayer.

But poll tax payments totaled only 196 thus far, Andres said. Voters have until January 31 to pay their poll taxes.

Last year, 187 had paid city poll taxes by December 31, compared to 800 by the same date the preceding year.

The city election in April will consider candidates for three council positions.

Hunting Mishap Kills Gause Youth, 12

Pre-holiday tragedy struck December 23 when Delmo Shaw, Jr., 12, of Gause, was fatally shot by a discharge from his father's shotgun.

Young Shaw, his father, Delmo Shaw, Sr., and two younger brothers were hunting on the Brazos River below Gause, according to Sheriff Carl C. Black.

Sheriff Black said that the 12-year-old boy and his father were walking through some brush near the river when the senior Shaw's 12-guage shotgun accidentally discharged, the blast striking the youngster on the right side of the head.

Shaw picked up the injured child and rushed him to a clinic in Hearne where the 12-year-old died five minutes later, Black said.

The Milam County law officer quoted the boy's father as saying his gun caught on some brush as he momentarily slipped and the gun accidentally fired. The boy was walking ahead.

The two younger brothers, 8 and 10, were waiting for the elder Shaw and his son.

The youth had lived all his life at Gause.

Funeral services were held at the Gause Baptist Church December 24 with interment at Gause Cemetery.

Survivors include the boy's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Delmo Shaw; two sisters, Patsy Dean and Linda Shaw; and two brothers, Donald and Garry Allen, all of Gause.

No Scrapes, Wrecks Occur Since Dec. 22, Chief Simons Says

Chief Chester Simons, head of the Cameron Police Department, said Wednesday that all has been quiet on the driving front since December 22.

He reported five accidents during the month, none fatal to drivers.

But no collisions or accidents of any kind occurred over the Christmas holidays, Simons said.

He advised that holiday drivers maintain the same precaution over the New Year weekend.

ROBINSONS HOST GUESTS

Holiday guests in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Claude Robinson were their children, Mr. and Mrs. Andy Raymond and sons, Jackie and Dowel, Waco; Mr. and Mrs. Billy Roznovak and children, Rebecca, Joe and Lynn, Lubbock; Mr. and Mrs. O. F. Chapman and children of Rockdale and Mrs. Ester Delano also of Rockdale.

Several Factors Cause Short Crop, Planting During Season

Milam County's crop outlook for 1959 was rated to be as good or better than 1958, according to County Agent J. D. Moore.

Moore told The Herald that his estimate of the cotton production in Milam County for 1959 is higher than actual production this year. P. W. Davis, manager of Cameron Compress, said that 8,000 bales for the county appeared to be a good estimate for 1958.

2,700 Acres Unplanted

Moore went on to say that 2,700 acres of available cotton acreage was not planted because of a combination of factors: the soil bank, wet bottomlands and failure of available land to be used by cotton growers.

A. E. Sanders, manager of the Agricultural, Stabilization and Conservation office, said that about 21,000 acres had been placed in the soil bank early in 1958.

In maize, corn and truck crops, Moore predicted equal production in 1959. Reliable estimates in 1958 showed that about 1,250,000 bushels of corn were grown, and 1,200,000,000 pounds of maize were harvested in Milam County.

Milam County has excellent soil moisture conditions, Moore pointed out, following two years of steady rains that brought the water back to normal.

Some Underplant

Moore said that many farmers underplanted cotton during 1958 and many growers turned back allotted cotton acreage for others to use, but who did not.

So, Moore continued, hundreds of acres of cotton acreage was not planted.

Moore said that stress would be made to get available acreage planted this spring that went unplanted in 1958.

Small Dams Planned For San Gabriel River

A somewhat brighter outlook for small dams on the San Gabriel River and its tributaries has come as a result of the State Soil Conservation Service's offer to plan a series of dams in the watershed below the proposed big dams at Georgetown.

Earlier, the SCS had indicated it wouldn't proceed with plans until the question of big dams at Georgetown was settled, on the grounds it would be impractical to plan dams in an area which might later be covered by water from big dams.

Now however the SCS has indicated a willingness to plan approximately 20 small dams below Georgetown, on Berry's Creek, Willis Creek, and Alligator Creek, leaving possible dams above Georgetown until later.

The directors of the San Gabriel Water Control and Improvement District immediately agreed to this plan, and negotiations are underway now for working out details. The district, which covers parts of Burnet, Williamson and Milam Counties, already has voted bonds for this work. When negotiations will be concluded, and when a survey crew can be secured, are not known at this time, but directors expressed pleasure at the outlook for early, renewed activity on the project.

Election Jan. 13

Two directors, whose terms expire in January, will be elected at an election throughout the district the district Jan. 13. To curtail expenses, voting boxes will be reduced to five, located at Georgetown, Bertram, Circleville, Granger and San Gariel. Directors whose terms are expiring are A. C. Weir of Georgtown and Henry Labaj of Friendship.

County Agent Reports

Planting Cotton Allotment Urged

By J. D. Moore
County Agent

A series of meetings are being held in central Texas in regard to cotton acreage not planted in 1958. Local representatives of the A.S.C. Farm Bureau and the Extension Service attended a meeting in Taylor last week. Speakers attending the meeting emphasized the need for getting the cotton allotted acres planted in each county. There were some 45,000 acres not planted in the 10 county central Texas area.

Briefly, there are some 54,000 acres of cotton allocated to Milam County on about 1600 farms. A farmer has the choice of planting his allottment, putting his land in the soil bank or he may release his cotton acres back to the county A.S.C. office to be re-distributed to other cotton farmers that want to plant additional acreage. The allotted cotton acres put in the soil bank and not planted are not lost history. The law protecting acreage history is good through the calendar year 1959. The future ruling concerning this policy will depend on legislation.

Central Texas Losing

During recent years there has been considerable concern regarding state allocations of cotton acres Central Texas cotton interests feel that we are losing cotton acreage to west Texas. Some segments of the cotton interest say that is we do not plant the acres allocated to cenral Texas, we present a problem to the state committee regarding future allocations.

There were around 2700 allotted acres not planted to cotton in Milam County in 1958. Other central Texas counties followed the same trend.

Reasons for not planting the allotted acres varied from underplanting on the farms to failur eto release acres back to the A.S.C. office on farms not desiring to plant cotton.

Future Plans

What can be don eto help with this problem? The local A. S. C. office has plans formulated to check very carefully with farmers on planting their allottments. Also, plans call for more attention to plantings of released acres by conferences with those applying for additional acreage to see if they are planting their allottmen tand have land available for the additional acreage.

The purpose of this column is to call attention to a local problem. We feel that our farmers will cooperate. We should not abandon cotton in central Texas by legislation. If farmers choose not to plant it, thats their decision. Lets help keep cotton around for those that want to farm cotton.

Farm Machinery Costs Discussed In New Bulletin

Profitable farming today not only requires adequate machinery and equipment to make labor most productive, but it also requires a balance between the capital invested and the labor which goes into the farm business.

It has never been more true that "you must spend money to make money." It is possible, however, to spend money without adding to income. At the same time, many farmers can profitably spend more for machinery, especially if they can increase their volume of business and lower their costs per unit of product. The big questions farmers should ask themselves are:

1. Which costs should I increase and which should I cut?
2. Which costs can I cut that will not cut my income?
3. Which machines, if any, are not essential for my farm business

The Texas Agricultural Extension Service has released a bulletin that will help answer these questions. It discusses factors to consider before buying machinery, how to cut machinery costs, selecting a machine, when to trade, along with cost-cutting tips and other related topics. Cecil Parker, farm management specialist and W. L. Ulich, agricultural engineer, are the authors.

This publication is available from local county agents or the Agricultural Information Office, College Station, Texas. Ask for MP-281.

Tom Murray's Column

NOW THAT we're back on the annual post-Christmas calorie diet, and the annual Southwest Conference basketball tournament has come and gone, how about sticking out the old neck on the annual New Years bowl extravaganzas?

Before moving on, we feel a necessity of mentioning something, however. Since we are occasionally addicted to spouting "I told you so," there is a compelling force to remind that we picked Pasadena in that ill-fated Wichita Falls joust.

There must be some excuse, but so far none has been forthcoming.

A wise sports writer once advised always to stick with the accepted football favorite to come out ahead. With that in mind, we will go off the rocker once more.

How about Clemson to beat Louisiana State in the Sugar Bowl? Frankly, there seems to have been something doubtful about LSU's No. 1 ranking, although the Tigers certainly play a better schedule than Oklahoma, the erstwhile champion.

We go for Frank Howard's Clemson Country Cousins to upend Billy Cannon, Warren Rabb, and company, about 27-21. How? Wily old Frank has the answer.

Oklahoma, even without Quarterback David Baker, will make Syracuse yearn for Jimmy Brown. It could go as high as 35-7 in another Orange Bowl mismatch.

The Cotton Bowl may have the most unique game, one between an old pro and the rank amateur. Naturally it is bowl-veteran Texas Christian meeting Air Force Academy, a younster among major-collegiate football powers.

But this one, strangely, could be close. The Cadets will be fired but the Frogs may be more responsible for an eventually sane score. Abe Martin's monsters, in the same mold as the 1950 Texas Longhorns who met Tennessee in the Cotton, usually play only sufficiently efficient to win. They rarely are spectacular. TCU 26, Air Force 12.

Like Oklahoma in the Orange, Iowa should have it comparatively easy in the Rose Bowl. Pete Elliott's California Golden Bears are not in the class of the Big Ten Champion. Iowa 28, Cal 7.

For information of the sadistic, our 1958 New Year bowl record: One correct, three wrong. Happy New Year!

PHIL RANSOPHER, the former University of Texas high-jumper who currently hops across the country as public address announcer for the Globetrotters, got his start at Baytown in 1955, announcing the Gander football games for Radio Station KREL. The tall, handsome young man, despite being a Houston Lamar graduate, is a rabid Baytown football fan ..... Russ Parker, editor of the Bay City Daily Tribune, has a good reason for the annual flop of Rocky Nelson in major league baseball. "He talks too much," says Parker of Nelson, perennial top minor league hitter, but always a failure at breaking the major loop barrier. Parker and Nelson are close friends, having been together in the service ..... Navasota football players thought Hearne Halfback James Theis one of the best they met ..... Can you find a member of the first football team your community ever produced? F. D. (Smitty) SMITH, El Campo Leader-News sports editor did, coming up with John Morris, a local druggist, who played on the first Ricebird team in 1911 . Sam Houston State's top fullback, Dan Ray Hooks, teammate to Rice's Gordon Speer under Lloyd Kelley at Barbers Hill, was once considder too small for college football ..... Asked who would be the new Baylor coach, Waco sports Editor Dave Campbell uttered the old Classic: "Your guess is good as mine" Mike Mistovich, former Bryan Bomber pitcher, is currently a radio announcer .. Randall Kerbow, Pasadena's smooth quarterback, was not lonesome at the SWC cage tourney. Buster Brennon, TCU's basketball mentor and talent scout was bending his ear real well. Brannon signed Bert Coan last spring .. Houston Chronicle Sports Writer Jerry Ribnick, motioning toward the Texas Aggies' BOB Rogers: "There sits the best basketball coach in the Southwest Conference" .. Watching SMU's Max Williams flit around the court, ala Slater Martin, the Houston Press' Frank Godsoe predicted: "In another year Max will be completely bald." ..... The University of Texas has suffered a tremendous off-season loss, with a physician's decision that Sophomore Guard Bobby Goodwin, Houston Milby, may not every play football again. A neck injury ended the career of the former all-state center. The loss was summed by Longhorn Guard Bill Laughlin, of Baytown: "It's a great loss. It is hard to lose a boy like Bobby. He has the size, speed, brains and desire to be great!"

Mrs. Louise Mareth Cited For Work By Soil Conservationist

By Wayne Mann
Soil Conservation Service

One of the greatest handicaps to getting conservation on the land in this part of the State is Landlord - Tenant relationships. In many cases the landlord is not close enough to the land to understand and see its conservation needs. This is not the case on Mrs. Louise Mareth's farm located just west of Cameron on the old Temple highway.

Mrs. Mareth recognized that she had a water problem, and was determined to correct it. She was referred to the SCS at Cameron by H. F. Huebner, who has been a cooperator with the Central Texas SCD for several years. The greatest and most urgent problem on her farm was the outside water from about a 100 acre watershed. To correct this problem the old waterway was cleared of brush and shaped so as to carry the expected run off without spilling over into the cropland. Miss Mareth coordinated the technical services of SCS, the cost - share program of ACP, and the services of Tom and Nat, contractors, to finish the waterway between rains.

This is Mrs. Mareth's first conservation job after becoming a cooperator with the Central Texas SCD, but she has made plans to do all the conservation jobs needed on the entire farm as soon as possible. She is truly interested in the land and is determined to leave this farm better for the generations to come.

Professional conservationists and others interested in the conservation of our natural resources always enjoy working with and appreciate the efforts of land owners such as Mrs. Mareth.

Balloon Decorations Add To Holiday Party

The Episcopal Parish house was the scene of a holiday party honoring Miss Carol Ann Wilson Monday evening.

Brightly colored balloons decorated the party room. The refreshment table was covered with a black corduroy cloth and centered with an arrangement of the balloons.

Mrs. Dewey McElwrath and Mrs. Carroll McElwrath served sandwiches, cokes, candy and potato chips to the 45 guests.

Casting The '59 Die

The die for 1959's cast was set in many developments during the past year in Cameron and Milam County.

As for developments in Cameron streets and construction, completion of projects started in '58 will add to the growing list of additions in Milam's county seat.

For example:

ONE—Completion of the First Methodist Church's building program that includes an educational building and remodeling of the church basement into classrooms.

TWO—Final work on the $110,000 National Guard Armory in West Cameron by spring.

THREE—Widening of US 77 through Cameron from Travis and Fourth to the east city limits.

FOUR—Construction of a small, modern city jail, addition of city street sweeper and other equipment to improve city services.

FIVE—Construction of the $323,000 dial center by Southwestern Bell Telephone Co. and installation of dial service.

SIX—Installation of sewer lines to E. Gillis St. and Terral addition in a move extend city services to areas incorporated several years back.

SEVEN—Improvement of existing thoroughfares running east-west and north-south in Cameron under project outlined and approved by city planners and councilmen.

The latter development comes more as a prediction based on the action of the two civic bodies approving the plans.

But these are in fact physical changes or improvements, that materially affect the landscape and skyline of Cameron, not to mention the additional facilities to be available to Cameron residents.

It is not daring to predict even further developments in construction life of Cameron as at least two churches are considering such plans.

These material changes cannot but affect the interest of Cameronites in continuing the surge of improvements as they outlined for themselves in the Community Development Clinic last May.

THE LITTLE RIVER PHILOSOPHER

Looks Forward To 1959, Prepared To Withstand Any Form Of Progress

Dear editar:

A lot of people, especially those who worry about the hydrogen bomb, were afraid 1959 wasn't going to get here, but if you'll look outside you'll notice it's here, and I have an idea New Years will keep on coming. There's not a thing man can do to stop it.

And as usual, most people are making resolutions and mapping plans for the next twelve months, except me. I don't intend to change much. It's not that I couldn't, I just don't want to.

I will go so far as to say though that I will match Washington when it comes to financial planning. According to an article I read last night, Washington officials, in looking over the prospects for the new year, have taken a confident attitude and have announced the Federal government "will come as close as possible to balancing the budget."

Now that's the kind of planning I admire, and I don't mind saying I will get up on the Washington level in regard to my own financial affairs in 1959. I too will come as close as possible to balancing my budget, and in proportion to size. I'll bet I don't miss much further than Washington.

At any rate, I'd like to say I have enjoyed writing for readers of The Cameron Herald during 1958, and am looking forward to getting their minds off of serious things again in 1959. It bests working.

I don't know any more about what the future holds than anybody else, but I'm banking on human nature's standing up against anything that turns up. Human nature has stood up unchanged against the airplane, the radio, television, automobiles, central heating, air conditioning, public and private debt, time payments, progressive education, cake mixes, hydrogen bomb, etc., and I believe it can do the same against guided missles, space travel, foreign cars, inflation, Russians, and rain or drouth.

Human nature has a habit of swallowing up all progress and coming out about the same. I don't see any reason why it should change much in 1959. Personally, I'm looking forward to the next twelve months. I can take anything science has to offer, without being swept off my feet. It's hard to sweep a man off his feet when he's sitting down anyway.

Yours faithfully,
J. A.

Capitol Report

State Capitol Doors Called 'Oak Curtain'

By Vern Sanford
Texas Press Association

AUSTIN— There's the Iron Curtain, the Bamboo Curtain and what might be called the "Oaken Curtain" – those heavy oak doors in the State Capitol and elsewhere that sometimes swing shut when public officials are transacting public business.

Several newspaper organizations are forgoing a battering ram with which they'll make a run at the "Oaken Curtain" during the next legislative session.

Three measures designed to prevent concealment of public information will be offered. Briefly, here's what the bills would do:

No. 1. Make open to the public at all times all official meetings of all city councils, commissioners courts, legislative committees and state boards, commissions and agencies. Any official found in violation would be liable to a $100 to $1,000 fine and removal from office, and the action taken in secret would be invalid.

No. 2. Make any official who prevents or refuses to permit inspection of a public record liable to a $100 to $500 fine and removal from office.

(Neither of the above measures would apply to any meeting or record not open to the public under present laws.)

No. 3. Make any person who takes and carries away a public record "with intent to destroy, suppress, alter or conceal" liable to a three to seven-year prison sentence.

All three measures are being sponsored by the Associated Press Managing Editors Association, and have been endorsed by the Texas Association of Sigma Delta Chi, a professional newsmen's organization.

All the bills, said Ed Wishcamper of Abilene, APME's freedom of information chairman, are based on the premise "that the public is entitled to know what goes on in the government divisions which levy and spend taxes and whose decisions affect the lives of the people."

Or, from another viewpoint, if it's truly "government of the people, by the people and for the people," there's seldom need to hide it from the people.

Who Meets Secretly

Insofar as Austin is concerned, the most likely targets for freedom of information proposal No. 1 are the Legislative Budget Board and the State Board of Health.

The Budget Board, a joint panel of senators and house members, meets in advance of sessions to thrash out recommendations on how much money to appropriate where. Billions in public money are involved.

Shut-out Capitol pressmen contend the public ought to be in on these decisions.

But Budget Board members point out that it's terribly touchy business at this point and that premature reporting would be like taking the lid off a box of bees. They can't speak frankly, they say, and come to an understanding with reporters present. And besides, the story goes, the Budget Board's report will be made public when it is submitted to the Legislature.

State Board of Health has excluded reporters from sessions in which it decides the allocation of millions in federal hospital-building funds. The Health Board, too, contends that it eventually makes its decisions public. Newsmen complain that the reports are slow in coming in and hard to get.

State Board of Insurance was petitioned by Sigma Delta Chi's Austin Chapter to keep its public records and meetings open. This Board promptly replied that it had not and would not attempt to conceal any official acts or hearings.

Some official activities are by deciding whether to confirm appointments by the governor. Also the Senate committee on nominations. In these sessions discussion involves people – the appointees-- in a very personal way. Newsmen recognize this problem.

Also, the deliberations of both grand juries and petit juries are conducted in legal privacy since the reputation of innocent, as well as guilty, persons are involved.

Taking stock of the opportunities of 1959...

As business management evaluates its opportunities for growth and progress in the new year, quite often financial questions loom large in the picture. It is at this point that we, as experienced bankers can be depended upon for helpful counsel and cooperation.

Income Tax Facts

Questions and Answers About Your Individual Income Tax Report for 1958, as Presented By The Texas Press Association

Do you contribute to the support of a dependent, but do not furnish over one-half of his (or her) support?

Maybe you can claim the dependency credit anyway.

If your dependent can qualify in all other ways except that you do not furnish over one-half of his support then perhaps this will help you.

In cases where two or more persons contribute together more than 50 per cent of the support of an individual and each could claim the individual as a dependent except for the fact that he did not contribute more than 50 per cent of the support, the law permits one of the contrbutors to claim the individual as a dependent provided:

(1) the taxpayer claiming the individual contributed over 10 per cent of the support, and

(2) each person other than the taxpayer who contributed over 10 per cent of the support of the individual agrees not to claim the individual as a dependent for any taxable year beginning in the calendar year 1958.

One of these agreements, Form 2120, must be executed by each person (other than the taxpayer claiming the dependent) who is a member of a contributing group and who contributed more than 10 per cent of the support of the dependent. The agreements must be filed with the return of the taxpayer claiming the the deduction on account of the dependent in question.

In other words, suppose that you and your three brothers each contributed 25 per cent of the cost of supporting your mother. By agreeing among yourselves, any one of you can claim the dependency credit for any year that the others are willing to sign an agreement form 2120 that they will not claim it.

You can take turns, or one claim it every year. You cannot prorate the credit between you. One must claim the full credit.

Now is the time to consult with the others contributing toward the support of your dependents and agree among yourselves on who is going to claim the deduction this year and who is going to file declarations that they are not claiming the deduction.

Out Doors In Texas

Deer Season Closes In Texas

By Vern Sanford

Deer season has just closed in Texas with one of the best harvests since controls took over many years back. Just how many hunters got their deer never will be known. We've talked to a great many, however, who are very happy over their success.

Another interesting thing this year was the number of women and children getting deer. Perhaps 6-year-old E. P. Ruhmann IV, of Kenedy, was the youngest. He got two nice bucks early in the season.

These kids are learning to be real marksmen. This particular boy's story intrigued me, because he was a fellow who really was ready for his first deer hunt.

Young E. P. had been shooting a BB gun for more than two years, plinking pesky sparrows by the dozen. Last year he got his first chance to shoot a real gun. His dad and granddad took him out with a .22 Hornet, bolt action Savage and the boy killed his first javelina hog. Then at the beginning of this season they provided him with a .410 shot gun and he got his limit of doves several times.

Finally when the big day came he was ready for it. With a .222 caliber Savage rifle he got his two bucks with one shot each through the shoulder.

He was able to do this because of his early training. Fortunately young Ruhmann lives in a small town where he can get into a pasture and shoot to his heart's content. He learned how to plink on tin cans and sparrows, and has even killed his share of cotton rats.

It is unfortunate that more boys don't have this same opportunity to learn to shoot. The BB gun is marvelous for their training. Many of us will recall the first time we ever shot a BB gun, which was the old-fashioned spring type, known as an air rifle. Today's BB guns are much more modern. They represent a great advance in BB guns and in target shooting.

Next after the air compressed BB gun came the pellet gun, powered with carbon dioxide gas.

Now a new gun has just been announced by Crosman Arms Co., that shoots real BB shot, either lead or steel. This is a gas powered gun, with authentic frontier styling and has a finger tip lever action which permits the shooter to feed, load and cock the rifle with one easy stroke, without removing it from his shoulder.

This gun, known as the Hahn Super BB repeating rifle, has a smooth barrel, open rear sights and a post type front sight, which guarantees target accuracy.

Incidentally, Crosman has gone a long way in the development of these gas powered guns and pistols The company also provides a set of targets, which can be used for basement shooting. All of these things add to the possibility of a small boy's learning to shoot accurately from his dad's instruction

This instruction is worth much to the boy and to the dad. Some of our best hunters have graduated from the BB gun. But such guns should be handled with care. They can be dangerous, too. That's the advantage of dad's showing his son how to use a gun.

Because of the unusually warm weather at the beginning of the waterfowl season many hunters were disappointed. They failed to get the kills they expected. There was plenty of warning about this in the way the bag limit was handled las tyear. Quite a few hunters were made unhappy because the limit was cut on canvas backs and red heads.

There were not many disappointments in quail shooting, however. At the season's opening most hunters got their limits, although dogs had hard work. There had been no frost to defoliate the weeds and trees. Dogs nearly ran themselves crazy trying to point birds in tangles of weeds and grass.

There is no doubt about last year's quail crop being the best in history. Favorable weather conditions throughout the year provided ample food and cover. The nesting season was successful. Bobs and blues multiplied by the thousands. Hunters got their share.

Many close studies have been made on quail by the wildlife biologists. It is not a migratroy bird and it lacks much of the hardness of many other birds. Because it nests on the ground, and because it stays in close range, it is subject to a great deal of predation. As a rule there is only about a 20 per cent carry-over in each season's crop.

One of the real problems also affecting quail welfare has been the destruction of native habitat. Fortunately many land owners have recognized this and are doing everything possible to restore habitat.
